Made possible by the generous support of the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs CreateNYC Disability Forward Fund and the Craig H. Neilsen Foundation, the purpose of the Disability, Dance, Artistry, Dance and Social Justice Fellowship Program is to recognize the critical role that disabled dance workers and arts practitioners play in social justice movements and to ensure that these workers are supported while continuing to place disability front and center as a positive artistic and generative force. Dance/NYC recognizes that, despite the multiple ways disabled communities have been impacted by COVID-19 and ongoing racial violence, disabled dance workers have remained active in serving their communities through online programming, community organizing efforts, and mutual aid, often without compensation or funding. The fellowship program provides a recognition of all activities completed between July 1, 2020 and June 30, 2021.

The program was a non-competitive application by invitation to participants of the 2020 Disability, Dance, Artistry, Dance and Social Justice Fellowship Program. Dance/NYC's aim in administering the invitation-based program was to reduce administrative costs (thereby ensuring the largest number of funds went to disabled dance workers), reduce applicant labor, and offer renewed funding to the 2020 cohort in recognition that they continued to remain active in their dance and social justice activities.

In September 2021, Dance/NYC awarded the following 27 recipients of funding:

- April Biggs
- Audre Wirtanen
- Branden Wallace
- Christine Krishna Washburn
- Christopher Núñez

Grantees were awarded one-time grants of $1,000-$2,000 based on dance and social justice activities undertaken during the Fellowship period, March 11, 2020 through June 30, 2020. The 26 grantees were selected by a review panel and were among a pool of 30 metropolitan New York City area individual dance workers with disabilities who submitted applications in response to an open call. Key evaluation criteria included: need, defined as expenses incurred in the development and execution of eligible activities; a commitment to justice, equity, and inclusion, with consideration for the role historically underfunded groups including African, Latina/o/x, Asian, Arab, and Native American (ALAANA), LGBTQ+, women-identifying, gender nonconforming and/or nonbinary, and immigrant artists play within the applicant pool and wider dance field; and a diversity of participant roles and perspectives.
