Valerie Green/Dance Entropy, a Long Island City based renown dance company, performs a dynamic, site-specific, physical investigation into water, time, and environment accompanied by live music by Ronnie Burrage. The dance explores our relationship to coastal ecosystems and the delicate balance and shifting nature of rivers and water lines. The work will be immersed inside the New York Hall of Science's permanent exhibit Connected Worlds a fantastically animated world that explores how ecological systems relate and depend on one another to maintain balance and health. The dancers actions, gestures, movements, and decisions to guide the flow of resources in this ever-changing environment.
